Dear Official,

I am looking for a job as an Android developer in order to contribute to both myself and my company.

I have projects such as a word puzzle application and a WhatsApp clone that I have developed in this field. I also have experience with real-time database and firebase. I can design sustainable, scalable, user and system friendly applications with Java, Kotlin and Dart programming languages.

I am a good team player and have good interpersonal communication skills. I can produce effective and sustainable solutions to complex problems. I like to improve myself both socially and technically. Since my versatile thinking ability has developed, I can produce more than one solution to any problem, choose the most optimum one and apply it to the problem without sticking to a single solution.

My career plan is to try to create a better version of myself in the software industry, to be among the pioneers in the field of technology and to direct the future. It is to help me improve my future in the company I am applying to with the knowledge, experience and skills I have gained by improving myself in the Java and Android developer position. My aim is to direct and benefit the company I will work for by contributing to the development of technology and to carry the company into the future.

I would like to request that my detailed CV attached be evaluated so that I can take part in your company and have a privileged development opportunity. I kindly request you to send your requests via my e-mail address in my contact information.

Thank you for giving a time.

Kind regards,
Tolgahan İPEK
